Welcome to Sitges

Cosmopolitan, creative, diverse, respectful and devoted to the sea. Sitges is all that, the place that inspired Catalan Modernisme and that continues to inspire millions of tourists and visitors from all over the world year after year.

For many, its secret lies in its 26 fine sandy beaches. For others, its 300-plus days of sunshine a year. But in Sitges, we go way beyond all that. We are local cuisine, culture, festivals, traditions, shopping and sports. We are an accessible and top-quality destination. Sitges agrees with you, and our locals' friendly character wins over hearts and minds. Because if you visit Sitges, you're from Sitges.

Don't just let them tell you about it.

Location and transport

Sitges is in the county of Garraf, just 35km from Barcelona and set between the mountains of the Garraf Park, the Penedés vineyards and the Mediterranean Sea.

Top 10 things to do in Sitges

01. Beaches and Marinas

Find your beach

Sitges has urban and family-oriented beaches, all easy to reach by public transport. Small coves with turquoise waters. LGBTIQ+ beaches. Beaches for exercising and sports, for relaxation or to take your pet. Altogether, Sitges' 17 km of coastline and 26 beaches form a natural, seaside, Mediterranean setting surrounded by the Garraf Park's natural beauty.

All of Sitges' beaches hold quality certifications such as the ISO 14.001, the EMAS and are affiliated to the Biosphere commitment, which certifies their dedication to sustainable tourism.

In 2022 Sitges has received the distinction of 9 blue flags for the beaches of Les Botigues, Garraf, Marina d'Aiguadolç, Balmins, Sant Sebastià, La Ribera, L'Estanyol, la Barra and Terramar.

The Sitges beaches have services and facilities that facilitate access for people with reduced mobility, children and adults. In addition, given the climatic emergency situation, Sitges has presented in 2022 a new, more sustainable and rational model of beaches that balances both human activity and its environment, and is also better in services and quality.

01. Beaches and Marinas

Garraf beach is known for the fishermen's huts from the 30's situated right on the beach, giving it its own special character. These huts have been the stage for many different commercials for famous brands such as Freixenet, Booking, Qatar Airways, Audi, Coca Cola, Argal and films such as Krámpack. These tiny huts have been declared a Cultural Asset of Local Interest by the Sitges Town Council. Facing La Ribera Beach is the first "Chiringuito" or beach bar in Spain, created in 1913 by Captain Calafell, named after the Cuban expression for ordering a coffee (chiringo).

Featured Annual Events

- Virgen del Carmen (Our Lady of Mount Carmel). Festivities in honor of the patron saint of seafarers including processions and floral offerings, on July 16th.
- Concerts. On summer evenings, the chiringuitos at Sitges' beaches offer live concerts for all ages.
- Beach Rugby Championship.

Find your Marina

Marinas are also another attraction in Sitges. And the town has three: Port de Sitges - Aiguadolç, the busiest and one of the best marinas in the Mediterranean; Port del Garraf, which specializes in recreational sailing and has direct access to Cala Bou and Les Casetes Beach; and Port Ginesta, the largest in Catalonia for its technical and nautical services.

All three marinas are equipped with modern services and facilities, such as information points, parking, waste collection, surveillance and care of pleasure crafts with refueling facilities, as well as a vibrant atmosphere thanks to their range of pubs, cocktail bars and restaurants. In the vicinity of the marinas there are also a number of user-focused services, such as ATMs, pharmacies, laundromats, post offices, Wi-Fi, showers and toilets. Transport connections with other parts of Sitges and the main transport channels (train, bus, cab) facilitate their access to the rest of Catalonia.

The Park's principal GR footpaths are easy to identify and are adapted for hiking, running and cycling. The Park covers 65.6% of the municipal territory (28.65km<sup>2</sup>).

02. Garraf Park

The Garraf Park belongs to the Barcelona Provincial Council's Xarxa de Parcs Naturals ("Natural Park Network"), is accessible from Sitges following the GR5 and GR92 and is certified with the European Charter for Sustainable Tourism (ECST) and subscribes to the Biosphere commitment to sustainable tourism. The European Charter for Tourism guarantees a use of the Park for tourism that is compatible with the territory's conservation, minimizing negative impacts and contributing to local economic development. At the same time, it also implies a sustainable tourism strategy developed and agreed upon with the area's relevant agents.

Accessible itineraries: Inside the park we find the Pleta botanical trail, which is circular and exclusively for pedestrians. It is 1,300 meters long - with a drop of about 35 meters-, which allows you to see 33 of the Park's characteristic species. Benches have been installed in two areas for visitors to rest. The first part of the route, 650 meters, is adapted for people with motor disabilities (recommended for wheelchairs). The trail also provides material designed for the blind. It consists of four copies of texts written in Braille for them to follow. Within the Park there are more accessible itineraries such as the sensorial of Can Grau (Olivella), as well as other free and adapted loan materials; such as 4x4 wheelchairs, Joëlette, etc.

GR 92 Mediterranean Trail. The Coastal Path

The views of the coastline, as well as the visit to the picturesque village of Garraf, are some of the most striking attractions of this pleasant trail, which starts at La Pleta and presents us with some of the most characteristic aspects of the massif's natural landscape, as well as some of the ongoing economic activities that take place there today. The exploitation of the Park's primary natural resource, calcareous rock, and the communication routes that cross it, will inevitably lead to a reflection on our society's needs and the landscape's conservation.

The path follows the entire ridge of a quarry. A very well signposted path leads to the sea passing through areas where the Park's different native species can be observed, such as the palmetto, the mastic tree, common reed grass or the European sea rocket, a plant with pink flowers that is very characteristic of the areas near the cliffs of the Garraf coast. It is advisable not to get too close due to the danger of landslides. To return to the starting point, you must retrace your steps in the opposite direction. Before starting this trail, it is highly recommended to visit the Park's office. The audiovisual material and the permanent exhibition there will provide you with the keys to understand the landscape much better.

The route is very easy, as it follows paths, trails and roads. The total drop is 360 meters, all downhill. It is highly advisable to wear suitable footwear and bring a water bottle, especially during the hottest months of the year. Binoculars will allow us to observe the fauna more closely and enjoy excellent panoramic views.

It is recommended to wear suitable footwear, bring water during the warmer months and binoculars to enjoy the landscape, vegetation, fauna and architectural heritage.

04. Sitges Malvasia Interpretation Center

A unique wine like no other in the world

Wine and social work are the main reasons why the Sant Joan Baptista Hospital winery, now the Sitges Malvasia Interpretation Center (CIM), has a unique identity. This venue, managed by the Sitges Sant Joan Baptista Hospital Foundation and inaugurated in April 2019, is dedicated to Malvasia, that sweet wine that was brought to Sitges from Greece in the 15th century. This Foundation's primary activity is caring for people while it also runs the winery, for which it manages the mail, production and marketing of Sitges' Malvasia. All activity carried out in this facility has a direct return on the Institution's social function.

Malvasia wine in Sitges is synonymous with the Sant Joan Baptista Hospital winery, Sitges' Malvasia Interpretation Center, which has been instrumental in preserving this unique product that is so much a part of the town.

The arrival of phylloxera and the appearance of champagne in the last quarter of the 19th century, marked the beginning of the Malvasia variety's downfall. Aware that Malvasia would eventually disappear completely, shortly before his death, the Sitgetan diplomat Manuel Llopis de Casades (1885-1935) decided to prevent this from happening and bequeathed a vineyard located in Aiguadolç to the Sant Joan Bautista Hospital, in addition to his family's Malvasia production business.

Malvasia is a variety of wine with which you can make table wines, dry and sweet, the latter the most popular and can be accompanied with desserts.

04. Sitges Malvasia Interpretation Center

The CIM is divided into two parts: in the first we find a museum that reminds us of the history of this wine and its relationship with Sitges' heritage. On the other hand, the construction of the building over the former Corral de la Vila (the Town Corral), which was for public use until the 18th century, restores this space and opens it up to the world as a tourist attraction. The Corral de la Vila is the only popular traditional architectural example from the modern era and reflects Sitges' economic and stockbreeding activity throughout history. Furthermore, this venue has been reinvented to become the headquarters for new cultural proposals such as small independent festivals.

Sitges' Malvasia is rated 92/100 in the 2019 Peñin guide. Among the Sitges Hospital's wine production, its Blanc Subur also deserves special mention, a gold medal winner among young white wines with the Penedès appellation (2020). In addition, the 2011 Malvasia Dolça from Celler de l'Hospital has been awarded the Gold Medal in 2022 at the prestigious Brussels Competition (Concours Mondial Bruxelles).

06. Gastronomy

Sitges has a special flavor of its own.

One of Sitges' particularities is that it has its very own gastronomy. Its proximity to the sea, its wine growing areas and its natural surroundings promote sea-related traditions that are part of its culture.

Among its flagship products is Sitges Malvasia, a sweet, golden, late-harvest wine with fresh fruit aromas and Mediterranean floral hints. It is unique in the world, and a regular lunch and dinner accompaniment at Sitges' restaurants.

A signature dish from Sitges is its Xató, a cold winter salad prepared with escarole, codfish, salted tuna, anchovies and Arbequina olives. Regional produce flavored with the traditional romesco type dressing. In Sitges, Xató is usually eaten at Carnival both on Fat Thursday and Ash Wednesday. Sitges-style rice is another classic from the local recipe book; a 19th century dish that combines products from both the sea and the mountains. It is a seafood rice dish recovered by Emerencià Roig Raventòs in his book "El Sitges dels nostres avis" (Our Grandparent's Sitges), published in 1934 and written based on oral transcriptions. In addition, Sitges-style rice contains a very special, local ingredient: Sitges Malvasia wine.

In total, in addition to the local and native offer, Sitges also has restaurants with national and international cuisine, which make its offer add up to more than 100 establishments.

06. Gastronomy

Sitges and the Slow Food brand.

Slow Food's philosophy is committed to craftsmanship and sustainability applied to gastronomy, with local, seasonal ingredients, for which traditional processes are used that are in no way aggressive to the environment and at a fair price for both consumers and producers. In Sitges there are two restaurants that are members of the Slow Food Barcelona brand: La Nansa and La Salseta, which have received numerous awards such as the "Cargol d'Or" (Golden Snail).

10. Terramar Gardens

A green lung by the sea

Designed in 1920 by Miquel Utrillo, the Noucentista Terramar Gardens are a natural space to enjoy activities for the entire family.

With facilities suitable for sports and leisure activities, there are areas for picnics, games (swings, zip-lines and a small soccer field) or to unwind in areas with vegetation and ponds. The Gardens are located between the sea and the golf course, and are open all year round. Thanks to their architectural and artistic characteristics, they possess a unique patrimonial value for the town.

The Terramar Gardens were created as part of the Terramar Garden City project, designed and directed by Francesc Armengol i Duran, Josep Maria Martino i Arroyo and Miquel Utrillo. The idea behind the town planning was to transform Sitges into one of the most glamorous beach towns on the Mediterranean, as well as to build an urban complex with all the facilities of the time and some attractive, lush green gardens for tourists. The space was built with special attention to sustainability and ecological awareness.

Opening hours: From September 15th to June 15th, 9:00 am to 7:00 pm.
During the summer: 10:30 am to 8:30 pm.

Opinion about Sitges

Sitges as a tourist destination gets an overall rating of 8.8 out of 10*.

Each year we ask our tourists what they like most about Sitges. Their answers are: a feeling, the atmosphere, the style, the light, the life on the Street...

In other cases they give us very specific answers, and this is reflected in the study of the profile of the tourist 2022; a study carried out annually with the Diputació Barcelona, through which it is ascertained that the most valued assets of Sitges by the tourist are the character and friendliness of people, accommodation, catering, security and beaches.

The good score in terms of security is one of the most valued aspects on a recurring basis, a very differentiating value for the destination since security is also one of the factors that tourists value most when choosing their place on vacation.

*This score is in line with the 8.31 obtained in 2021 online reputation study.

In addition to the Biosphere certification, 17 of Sitges' 26 beaches have the ISO 14.001 seal of quality, and all of them have the EMAS guarantee that acknowledges their environmental legislation, as well as other sustainable attributes such as external communication or the involvement of visitors and residents who actively contribute to reducing the town's ecological footprint.

In 2022 Sitges received the distinction of 9 blue flags for the beaches of Les Botigues, Garraf, Marina d'Aiguadolç, Balmins, Sant Sebastià, La Ribera, L'Estanyol, La Barra and Terramar. Sitges has been the municipality that has obtained the most blue flags in the province of Barcelona.

In order to promote sustainability, Sitges launched numerous environmental actions such as #ReSitges, an annual campaign to raise awareness, inform and educate people regarding respect, waste reduction, recycling and the reuse of elements for a greener destination.

The environmental changes in Sitges have also affected its municipal architecture. In order to contribute to energy efficiency and conservation, the lighting has been replaced and streetlights have been fitted with low consumption lights. Also, 24-hour electric vehicle recharging stations have been installed in different strategic areas of town, as well as a new cleaning service adapted to the use and influx of each area, which improves the condition of the streets and reduces inconveniences to residents. Among the principal innovations are new containers for selective waste collection, greater accessibility to containers all over town, and an exclusive service for the collection of tree cuttings and vegetable oil.

Administratively speaking, Sitges has implemented a number of environmental improvements that also favor sustainability and municipal welfare. One of them is e-administration, the project for modernization that speeds up procedures and facilitates information and communication with citizens by reducing paper consumption. The tourist information office has also experienced an evolution, with a strong commitment to Biosphere objectives in energy saving, waste management, noise pollution control, lost and found management or sustainable and committed information.

In natural environments, sustainability has been enhanced especially in the Terramar ponds, where the biodiversity of protected native species has increased thanks to the naturalization of the ponds and the surrounding area. An educational initiative that has turned the ponds into both an educational and a tourist attraction.

A commitment to respectful, diversified, deseasonalised, decentralized and responsible tourism has made Sitges a benchmark sustainable destination. We have a clear vision: promoting tourism that is respectful to culture, traditions, the surroundings and the environment is and will be our commitment. We all work together to ensure that Sitges continues to be Sitges.

Sitges Seaside Town

Sitges is and has always been a town with a sea-related tradition. Its legacy can be seen in the white fishermen's houses, in the old town, in its traditions and, above all, in its cuisine.

The town preserves many elements of the old fishing village such as the area called La Fragata, the houses of the Americanos, the Bastion Cannon, replica of one of the originals that protected the town from the attacks of British frigates in 1747; or the votive offerings of the Virgin of Vinyet, which the sailors would present to the Virgin before setting out on their long voyages.

Sitges' gastronomy is an element marked by its seafaring origins. In its recipe book you can find traditional dishes like Sitges-style rice, made with ingredients from both the sea and the mountains, or Malvasia, a sweet wine of Greek origin produced in Sitges' vineyards. Facundo Bacardí Massó, founder of the well-known rum brand, emigrated to Sitges by the sea.

Sitges is also sea-related thanks to its culture. All the museums are members of the Maritime Museums of Catalonia network, where the Emerència Roig i Raventós maritime collection stands out with over 350 works from Catalonia's maritime heritage, currently housed in the Santiago Rusiñol Popular Library. There are 64 models of ships, miniatures of navigational elements, elements related to life on board and fishing, representations of ships, paintings with a nautical theme, lithographs, magazines and elements of marine flora and fauna, among others.

All through the town, a blue stripe, a color recognized as "blauet de Sitges" (Sitges blue), indicates the houses where fishermen used to live. The fishermen's houses in Garraf, which date back to the 1930s, are 5 minutes away from the town center by train and were declared a heritage site of cultural interest by the Sitges Town Council. In addition, in recent years, they have also been featured in numerous film and photo shoots.

In 2019, with the intention of recovering and promoting its more sea-related character, the town joined the "Vilas Marineras" (Seaside Town) brand from the Agència Catalana de Turisme (Catalan Tourist Agency), a label that brings together coastal destinations that are linked to the sea through their history, culture, gastronomy and landscape. Among many other activities, they promote events based on the relationship between people and the sea.

Calendar of maritime events

- Marina Day, the day of Catalonia's marinas. Activities related to port and maritime life are organized.
- Virgen del Carmen (Our Lady of Mount Carmel), a traditional seafaring festival where boats leave the Port de Sitges-Aiguadolç Marina and a floral offering is made in memory of the deceased fishermen and sailors. The festival ends with a Habanera singing and a "ron cremat" (flambéed rum) tasting.
- Ophiusa Regatta and Sitges – Ciutadella Regatta, sports activities that promote nautical practice and maritime leisure activities.

Sitges and fishing

The fishing trade in Sitges has been passed down from generation to generation and has been preserved to this day.

Lesser arts, rowing and sailing boats and sustainable fishing have continued to date, in a local tradition that preserves the town's essence.

In the early 20th century, sailors would take their catches to Town Hall Square, where they were auctioned off or loaded onto trucks to be taken to Barcelona's Born market. It was also common for Sitges' boats to sail to the Barceloneta port and there they would unload the fish to sell it.

Together with the Sitges Town Council, today the Sitges Fishermen's Association is devoted to offering traditional fishing in the market with premium quality products, promoting "Peix de Sitges" (Fish from Sitges) and fishing-related tourism. The Association aims to complement its economic activity by promoting activities based on fishing-related tourism, where the fisherman encourages entrepreneurship and the value of local heritage while conserving natural resources by reducing the impact on the environment.

Furthermore, the Sitges Fishermen's Association has the Fishing - Tourism certification granted by the Catalanian Generalitat. Among the activities it organizes are guided tours of the Marina, tours of the traditional boats to discover their history and an introduction to traditional fishing techniques, with thematic seafood tastings of fresh products from the Garraf region.

Sitges Convention Bureau

Sitges has grown to become a key hub for meetings, congresses and incentive trips, having become the destination with the highest turnover in Catalonia second only to Barcelona.

Just 20 minutes from the international airport and 30 from Barcelona, it offers more than 3,000 hotel rooms in 4 and 5 star establishments, meeting rooms, 2 convention centers with a capacity for 900 and 500 people respectively, an auditorium for 1,400 attendees, 100 meeting rooms and venues for events and banquets.

A multipurpose environment full of cultural treasures and a rich variety of cuisine, leisure and sports activities that make it a preferred destination for all types of conferences, conventions, company presentations, seminars or incentive trips.

The Sitges Convention Bureau is part of the Sitges Town Council's Department of Tourism, a member of the International Congress and Convention Association (ICCA), which brings together the most important companies specializing in the business tourism sector. It also belongs to the Spain CB and is a collaborator of the Catalonia CB and the Barcelona CB.

According to the Sitges Hotel and Catering Association, business tourism accounts for 40% of annual overnight stays in hotels with meeting rooms, and 20.7% of the destination's overall volume, with an average of 600 meetings a year, 50% of which are international. Its primary markets are Spain, as well as the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Benelux, Scandinavia, the United States and Canada. In recent years, tourism from emerging markets has been starting to play a major role, as in the case of Asian tourism.

The most relevant sectors handled by the Sitges Convention Bureau are the pharmaceutical, IT, insurance, automotive, banking and industries such as the textile, food and sports sectors. The town leads in promoting the destination both nationally and internationally, with its participation in more than 25 professional fairs and workshops per year. Among its principal areas of action are advice on hotels, meeting rooms, unique venues, social programs and post-meeting activities, mobility and municipal permits.

In addition, other functions promoted and activated by the Sitges Convention Bureau are candidatures for congresses, presentations and other networking actions that promote synergies between sector professionals and corporations. It also provides tourist information materials about Sitges for participants, and organizes fam trips and site inspections. As a result, it becomes a global professional service to ensure the success of thousands of projects over time.

Some of the corporations that are members of the Sitges Convention Bureau are internationally famous companies, such as Eurostars Sitges and Meliá Internacional, with 2 establishments in town; Meliá Sitges and ME Sitges Terramar 4* Hotel. MiM Sitges, owned by Leo Messi and managed by the Majestic Hotel Group and 5 other independent hotels with meeting rooms, guarantee Sitges as the ideal destination for holding all kinds of events.

The Sitges Convention Bureau also offers exclusive venues that allow for new event and celebration formats in unique spaces, such as the Modernista-style Palau de Maricel overlooking the sea; Grup Peralada's Mas Solers Estate, a Renaissance palace for gala celebrations.

Sitges LGTBQ+

Our town takes a stance as LGTBQ+ friendly destination open to the rest of the world. The locals' open and tolerant mentality has always made visitors feel welcome at all times.

Over the years, Sitges has successfully maintained its elegance and idiosyncrasy, along with its varied tourist options with specialized infrastructures and establishments. Today, it has become one of the leading LGTBQ+ destinations in Europe.

According to the commonly shared story, the birth of the local gay community is linked to the arrival and settling of 19th century Modernista artists. The carnivals are another high point for this community, since they were revived clandestinely during the last period of Franco's dictatorship, from 1970 to 1975.

Specialized tourist services

In the 50's and 60's, the first openly LGBTQ+ bars and hotels opened their doors in Sitges.

This factor has provided the local services on offer with a very well-established base of LGBTQ+ friendly options among a wide variety of venues such as bars, stores, restaurants or hotels. The cultural activities organized by the associations themselves favor this welcoming, with guided tours, exhibitions, parties and charity events open to everyone.

Sitges Rainbow Tour Cultural Route

A route to get to know Sitges' LGBTQ+ history, offered in English and Spanish simultaneously. With a different perspective, this guided tour explains why Sitges has become the number one gay paradise in the Mediterranean.

Monument against homophobia

Sitges was the first town in Spain to erect a monument against homophobia: a pink triangle and at the base, the slogan "Sitges against homophobia / Never again / October 5th 1996 - 2006". Also in 2006, the monument was installed over the stones of the fourth jetty, between the beaches known as Bassa Rodona and Estanyol. In May 2013 it was restored and moved to its new location in the gardens of the Passeig Marítim Promenade, where it has greater visibility and has become a landmark for the entire community.

Sitges has become a pioneering destination in freedom from the heteronormative pattern. The LGTBIQ+ community feels totally at liberty in the town, and feelings are openly and uninhibitedly displayed.

Sitges Weddings

Sant Bartomeu i Santa Tecla Church

According to the Expertus Tourism and Leisure consulting firm for the Department of Tourism, Sitges hosts more than 400 weddings annually, 25% of which are foreign couples.

The town obtains an economic impact of 8.5 million euros in income per year from local companies. Likewise, foreign couples' weddings are the ones that generate the longest stays and the greatest economic impact. International wedding tourism also allows for deseasonalization and diversification.

Among the destination's main attractions are its location and easy accessibility, climate and available open spaces: from beaches to unique venues such as country houses, Modernista villas and homes.

Sitges by Night

As night falls, the streets of Sitges come alive. Sitges is a mixture of styles and crowds that make it attractive and unique.

It can boast of being both the birthplace of the first Pachá nightclub in the world, as well as of its LGTBQ+ friendly clubs, and including a more alternative offer with cocktail bars and craft beer breweries.

During summer afternoons and evenings, open-air concerts, festivals, seaside cocktails and beach bars broaden their range of leisure options to enjoy with family, partners or friends.

Primero de Mayo Street, popularly known as Sin Street, is one of the nerve centers of Sitges' nightlife, attracting up to 1,200 people on weekend nights, a figure that even doubles in high season<sup>1</sup>. Sin Street is named after Miquel Utrillo Jr. According to him, the first time this name was pronounced was on a hot summer night when he and a few friends were partying at one of the tables that a bar had set up on the street. The neighbors complained, the local authorities came and threatened them so they would stop making such a racket. Miquel Utrillo says that he told them, "But what sin are we committing here, we're only having fun" <sup>2</sup>. This was the "sin" that gave the street its name. Miquel Utrillo, who constantly insisted when starting something, continued to call it Sin Street, and managed to make the name popular<sup>3</sup>.

The Association of Sin Street Music Bars unites most of the bars on the street. It is an entity that was born with the spirit of working together for a high quality nightlife on an emblematic street on a global level.

Today, the bars and clubs are spread out over different easily accessible pedestrian areas in downtown Sitges as well as on Sin Street, including Sant Bartomeu and the streets leading down to the Ribera Promenade.

On Bonaire, Joan Tarrida and Plaza Industria Streets, in addition to the traditional Tacó Street, you will find most of the LGTBQ+ establishments and other historic ones like El Comodín, El Horno or the Parrots bar-terrace in Plaza de la Industria<sup>4</sup>.

The Port de Sitges - Aiguadolç and Port Ginesta marinas, with their bars, restaurants and atmosphere, are also an epicenter of Sitges' nightlife. Added to these options are the bars and cocktail bars of hotels such as the Me Sitges Terramar or MiM Sitges, with their sky bars and summer parties.

Safe and Responsible Leisure

During the 2020 summer season, in the midst of the Covid-19 health pandemic, Sitges' nightlife was once again a pioneer in Catalonia for its commitment to safety measures, implementing special operations to avoid crowds and guarantee social distancing, as well as deploying a team of security personnel.

Sitges Family

Sitges is a destination suitable for all ages, ideal to discover as a family any time of the year.

Its 17 urban beaches with services and easy access, its leisure and culture activities adapted for the little ones, its annual calendar of events, its pedestrian streets, its unique stores, its gastronomic options for all tastes and its Mediterranean nature make the town an ideal place for families to relax and enjoy themselves.

The family tourism options include attractions such as the Garraf Park, with signposted trails for all levels, visits to traditional country houses such as La Fassina to sample locally made artisanal products, small wineries, educational farms and facilities such as the Garraf Park Astronomical Observatory offering learning activities for all ages.

The children's playgrounds by the sea and the Terramar Gardens, a Noucentista green lung in the Vinyet residential district, which includes an area with swings, a mini soccer field and a picnic area, are complemented by the cultural offerings of Sitges' Museums, with a range of activities that are increasingly focused on the family sector.

"Museus de Sitges" offers a family game of clues that takes place in Santiago Rusiñol's former home/atelier. This initiative was created in two different versions: one in paper format for children between 4 and 6 years old and another in digital format - adapted for tablets and cell phones for girls and boys between 7 and 10 years old. The game of clues can be played in three different languages (Catalan, Spanish and English) and for free as part of the regular visits to the Cau Ferrat Museum.

Among other things, participants must discover the building's previous history before Santiago Rusiñol's arrival, what kind of objects its tenant par excellence collected and various interesting facts about its rooms, the works of art it houses and its special connection with Sitges and its people. In addition, the "Museus de Sitges" app offers different interactive games in four languages so that children can broaden their knowledge of museums while playing.

Family activities are a regular feature of the Museus de Sitges' annual calendar. An excellent opportunity for the little ones -and not so little ones- to interact in an educational way with the artistic heritage of their immediate surroundings.

Children under the age of 16 will have free access to all the facilities managed by the Sitges Heritage Consortium and adults who are accompanied by a minor will also have a 20% price reduction. In addition, families have a 20% discount on all facilities and 30% if they are large or single-parent families.

Valuation study of family tourism in Sitges

Based on the "Sitges Family Tourism Valuation Study", carried out by DNA, experts in tourism and leisure, families account for 13.50% of all visitors to Sitges compared to couples, which are the main sector with 45.10%. Families with children between the ages of 9 and 13 are the ones with the highest proportion (61.1%), followed by families with children between the ages of 4 and 8.

According to the surveys conducted as part of the study, for 25.5% of the companies, families represent more than half of their current clientele. The general perception among the business community is that this family profile is very compatible with other already consolidated destination sectors.

Main events during the year:

- Sitges Half Marathon. The traditional Sitges half-marathon reaches its 39th edition in 2023 and includes a parallel event for the youngest members of the family. # Sitges Coastline

Sitges looks out to the sea; a sea that is part of its landscape and has maintained a role as an economic and cultural backbone, adapting to new times without losing its memory.

Sitges Coastline is the project that encompasses all the sea-related and Garraf Park activities on its seafront that are carried out throughout the year and that brings together multiple kinds of activities.

Thanks to the "Sitges Sea" study, we can observe the existence of a very intense sea-related tradition and spirit spread out along the 17 km of Sitges' coastline, with a very wide range of activities and agents that shape Sitges' sea-related character with its 3 marinas, 6 yachting clubs and almost thirty recreational service companies that offer their services both from the marinas as well as from Sitges' beaches; charters, outings, paddle surf, surfing, parasailing, donuts, banana boats, windsurfing, scuba diving or jet skis or summer camps. In addition to all this, there is a very active yearly calendar of nautical activities with cruising, lateen and light sailing regattas that make Sitges a sector benchmark.

The Seaside Town brand The Seaside Town brand from the Agència Catalana de Turisme (Catalan Tourist Agency), which Sitges became part of in 2019, aims to promote tourist destinations with seafaring origins.

The Fishermen's Association, with its range of fishing, tourism and gastronomic activities, is one of the key areas in the Sitges Coastline project; due to the quality and variety of its services, its involvement with the environment and its social responsibility.

The Garraf Park is a protected green space by the sea that perfectly complements Sitges Coastline's attractions thanks to the multitude of activities that can be enjoyed on its seafront. In addition to trial or bicycle routes, it is also possible to engage in other activities such as spelunking or sea-side rock climbing with views of the sea.

Calendar of annual events:

- Marina Day, the day of Catalonia's marinas. Activities related to port and maritime life are organized.
- Verge del Carme (Our Lady of Mount Carmel), a traditional seafaring festival where boats leave the Port de Sitges-Aiguadolç Marina and a floral offering is made in memory of the deceased fishermen and sailors. The festival ends with a Habanera singing and a "ron cremat" (flambéed rum) tasting.
- Ophiusa Regatta and Sitges – Ciutadella Regatta, sports activities that promote nautical practice and maritime leisure activities.

Sports in Sitges

Thanks to its natural environment, between the sea and the mountains, and its mild climate throughout the year, Sitges becomes a unique setting for practicing all kinds of outdoor sports.

These attractions are joined by first-class facilities and a sports calendar of more than 20 fixed events throughout the year that includes sports activities such as golf, running, swimming, triathlon, rugby, chess, soccer, trail running, basketball, sailing, cycling and rhythmic gymnastics, among others.

Sitges has a wide range of municipal sports facilities; sports centers, the Aiguadolç and Nou Pins Vens soccer fields, a municipal swimming pool, a petanque field and a skate park. Sitges also has nautical facilities and marinas such as Club Nàutic Sitges, Club Nàutic Port Ginesta, Port de Garraf, Port de Sitges – Aiguadolç or Club de Mar de Sitges, as well as private gyms, horse riding and the Golf Club Terramar, one of the historic ones in Catalonia and located right in front of the sea.

Hotel accommodations available

Sitges has 48 hotels of which 61% of the hotel beds are in 4 and 5 star hotels. For this reason and thanks to their characteristics, quality and uniqueness, Sitges' hotels are generally considered a premium product. Additionally, given the town's geography, most of them are located either on the seafront or just a few minutes from the beach.

Sitges offers everything from large hotels belonging to international chains that have invested a great deal in recent years to remain at the forefront of the sector, such as Eurostars or ME Sitges Terramar, to small, family-run establishments in historic Modernista homes.

Hotels in unique buildings

Among Sitges' available hotel accommodations, the hotels located in homes of Americanos are particularly noteworthy. The "Americanos" or "Indianos" who returned during the 19th century from making their fortunes in the Americas built their luxurious homes in neoclassical, eclectic, Modernista or Rationalist styles, some of which have now become hotels ranging from 4 stars to guest houses but all with the charm of the times as their common denominator. Among these accommodations we find; Hotel Casa Vil·la, Medium Sitges Park, Romàntic and Renaixença

Hotels, Sitges Royal Rooms, Hotel El Xalet, Hotel La Renaixença and Hotel Sitges 1883.

MICE Hotels

It is also important to note that Sitges' hotels are highly specialized in business tourism and MICE, with a total of more than 100 meeting rooms between them, making Sitges an ideal destination for this market segment and the second leading second leading destination in Catalonia for congresses, conventions and meetings.

More information about MICE hotels at www.sitgescb.cat

Campsites

Sitges has two second-category campsites with a total of 2,238 places between them, located in a more natural setting but also just a short distance from the center of Sitges and the beach. In recent years, some of these establishments have made major investments to adapt to the latest trends in glamping, with bungalows and safari tents equipped down to the last detail.

Apartments and housing for tourist use

In recent years, apartments and housing for tourist use have been increasingly promoted, allowing visitors to enjoy a greater degree of residential independence. The number of properties for tourist use declared in Sitges is 1741, with an approximate number of beds between 10,002 or 4,176, the former depending on the number of properties for tourist use declared and the latter according to the average occupation of primary residences in Sitges (data: Sitges economic impact study) (For more information: <https://bit.ly/2G6ffXg>)

Tourist season

The tourist season in Sitges clearly goes well beyond the summer months as is traditionally the case in coastal destinations thanks to the diversification of segments it works with, its proximity to Barcelona and the international airport, the quantity and quality of events on the local calendar and the specialization of its hotels in the MICE sector.

Sitges' History

Sitges' freedom, cosmopolitanism and dynamism can be explained by the key figure of Santiago Rusiñol, who opened the town up to Modernisme and bohemianism.

Our privileged location, so close to Barcelona, protected by the Garraf Park and bathed by the Mediterranean Sea, has stimulated our power of attraction, which is growing even stronger because we won't stop here: there is always something going on.

Iberians, architects, film buffs and establishments help to understand Sitges' present. Its legacy attracts thousands of families, couples, friends, sports and culture lovers year after year.

Iberian Period – The Blanca Subur

The name of Sitges comes from "Sitja", a pre-Roman word meaning "deep hole or grain silo". Sitges was originally a small fishing village with a prime location sheltered by the Garraf massif. Its origins go back to the "Blanca Subur", the Iberian site described 3,000 years ago by Greek navigators.

Middle Ages – Miralpeix Castle

Certain traces from the medieval period have been preserved, such as the remains of the castle wall on Carrer d'En Bosch, in the old town, or like the Miralpeix tower or castle, located at the western end of town on the hill of the same name. This castle was already mentioned in a document from the year 1057 and was successively plundered and reinforced until well into the 12th century.

16th to 18th centuries – Recovery following wars and pandemics

In the wake of wars and epidemics that undermined the population of Sitges during the 14th and 15th centuries, in the late 16th century an immigration movement coming primarily from France balanced the demographic deficit suffered previously. In the 18th century, the economy was fully recovering and in less than a hundred years the population practically tripled.

18th and 19th centuries – Catalonia and trade with America

Throughout the 18th and 19th centuries, Sitges played a key role in one of the most important waves of immigration to America in Catalonia. With the 1778 Free Trade Act with America, many young people from Sitges enthusiastically saw the possibility of embarking for the New World with the intention of devoting themselves to trade, they were leaving to "make it in the Americas". They first settled along the South American coast from Argentina, Uruguay, Venezuela, Colombia and even Mexico. In the 19th century, they concentrated mostly on Cuba and Puerto Rico. The emigrants and merchants from Sitges established a network with the new world that allowed them to export wines and later on, footwear. Some stayed and made their businesses grow for quite some time, like Facundo Bacardí or Andreu Brugal, founders of the renowned Ron Bacardí and Ron Brugal brands.

Others returned to their birthplace, where they participated in Catalonia's industrial development and became the architects of Sitges' urban transformation, buying and selling vineyards, plots of land and buildings. The "Americanos" who were economically successful had luxurious homes built for themselves, of which there is still a rich selection of Neoclassical, eclectic, Modernista and Rationalist styles around the streets of Sitges. Today, some of these houses have been transformed into outstanding hotels.

19th and 20th Centuries – Santiago Rusiñol moves to Sitges

The establishment of several industries in Sitges attracted new population movements that, around 1850, led to significant growth. On the other hand, Sitges' cosmopolitan prestige began in this century when painter, writer and collector Santiago Rusiñol settled here, turning the town into one of the meeting points for artists and intellectuals related to the Catalan Modernista movement.

The historical legacy from the 19th and 20th centuries is one of the most important attractions Sitges has to offer in the cultural arena: architectural jewels such as the Palau de Maricel and the Cau Ferrat Museum, located in the Racó de la Calma (Quiet Corner), the mansions built by the "Americanos" and various public buildings make up an interesting heritage that visitors will find while strolling through the streets of Sitges.

20th Century – Sitges and the sea baths

In 1916 the first big hotel dedicated to tourism was inaugurated: the Hotel Subur. It was followed by the Terramar hotel in 1933, both of which complemented Sitges' services at the time when visitors came to Sitges to enjoy its famous sea baths.

In addition, in 1916 the 'Foreigner Attraction Commission' was born, which years later was constituted as the 'Foreigner Attraction Society', and today it is called "Foment de Sitges" ('Sitges Promotion'), a pioneering entity in the tourism world aimed at holding local events and celebrations to attract tourism. (Source: <https://bit.ly/2X5vWHe>)

1992 – Transformation of Sitges for tourism

The Port d'Aiguadolç Marina began operating in 1975. In the early 90s, the Garraf highway was inaugurated, bringing Sitges closer to Barcelona and the international airport, which led to increased hotel investment in the area, as well as an increase in the number of visitors, and in a short time Sitges became the second town in Catalonia to hold congresses.

The 1992 Olympic Games in Barcelona also contributed to the growth of the hotel sector in Sitges with the opening of large infrastructures such as the Meliá Sitges Hotel, with its auditorium for up to 1,384 people.

21st Century

Today, Sitges is a town closely tied to culture and tourism that has kept its origins alive and that stands out on the international tourist map. It is home to numerous congresses, the headquarters of the Sitges International Fantastic Film Festival of Catalonia, and has an extensive cultural, sporting and festival program that covers the entire year.

In 2016, it was certified as a Biosphere Destination, a certification granted by the Institute of Responsible Tourism, which is connected to the UNESCO.

In terms of hotel facilities, the latest openings and investments place Sitges on the map of the best accommodations on the Catalan coast. With establishments like ME Sitges Terramar, which since 2018 has been reinterpreting luxury from a Mediterranean perspective to offer innovative experiences, with its Beso Sitges Restaurant. High-end refurbishments such as Dolce Sitges by Wyndham in 2020, with an investment of 15 million euros with the objective of becoming an oasis of Mediterranean luxury and investments such as those of footballer Leo Messi with his reopening of the 4* Superior MiM Sitges Hotel (Messi and Majestic, the hotel company operating the establishment) plus the opening in 2022 of the new Sabàtic Sitges · Autograph Collection hotel from the Marriott hotel group.
